

A spring flowering of ikebana and kimono in Sydney

The restrictions on gatherings this year have meant Japanese cultural and social groups have had to adapt. Some have offered online activities such as the AJS-NSW online cultural series. As spring came to Sydney, Consul-General Kiya had the pleasure of attending several cultural activities in person.

On 17 September, Ikebana International Sydney Chapter held their Annual General Meeting (AGM). While taking precautionary measures against the spread of COVID-19, members exhibited beautiful works and gave an ikebana demonstration.

Consul-General Kiya attended the AGM and gave a speech about how the activities of Ikebana International Sydney Chapter have contributed to the development of multiculturalism and Japan-Australia relations.

In the morning of 26 September, Consul-General Kiya made a visit to “Kimono Sale and Demonstration” in Paddington, the very first cultural event organised by the Japan Club of Sydney (JCS) this year.

The kimono fair was held over the weekend of 26-27 September. There were already many people there when the Consul-General visited, and people dressed in stylish kimono brought a touch of Japan to inner-city Sydney.

NOTE: JCS is one of the three Japanese organisations in Sydney that Consul-General Kiya introduces in his newsletter No. 24.

ABOUT THE SERIES

J-Syd InstaLive is an interview talk series that our Consulate hosts on Instagram and IGTV.

Discover more about various aspects of Japan and Japanese culture, as shared by guests and enthusiasts through the lens of our local community.

Through these talks, we aim to engage Australian youth, build upon strong Australia-Japan relations and connect the Japan community in Australia.
